Man holds father hostage at gunpoint Sets trailer, boat on fire

By Larry Rowell
Editor

Terry Buis had little to say on Monday morning after being held at gunpoint for more than 18 hours — by his son.

Casey County Sheriff Jerry Coffman and Deputy Jamie Walters arrested Travis Ancil Buis, 22, of 3573 Rouse Branch Road, Liberty, and charged him with attempted murder, adult kidnapping, and first-degree burglary in the abduction of his father, Terry.

Coffman said that the ordeal began on Sunday when Travis held Terry at gunpoint at Terry's home and then at some point marched him several miles through the woods to Travis' mobile home where he held his father hostage throughout the night.

About 9 a.m. on Monday, a neighbor alerted Casey County 911 Dispatch that a trailer was on fire on Rouse Branch Road and two men were seen walking in a field behind the residence.

Several fire departments were dispatched to the scene, among them Southeast Casey Fire Department.

Chief Larry Harris said that there was a lot of smoke in the trailer and a bass boat beside the trailer was on fire.

"We made sure we got the fire out in the house first, and then the boat," Harris said, adding that East Casey, Clementsville, and Poplar Springs fire departments sent equipment and personnel.

While firefighters were tackling the trailer, Coffman said that he and Walters went to a wooded area about 150 yards behind the trailer where they heard Travis talking.

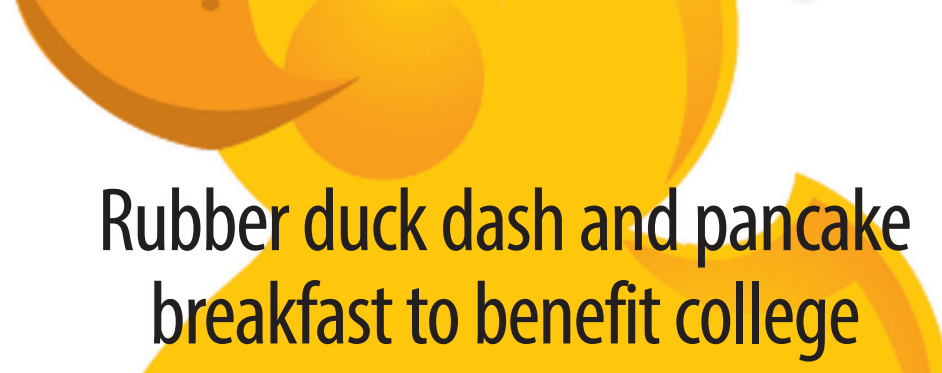

When the law officers got within 25 yards of Travis, they saw how perilous the situation had become.

Rubber duck dash and pancake breakfast to benefit college

For those whose luck may not have paid off on Derby day, there's another race coming up that could net five lucky winners a total of $20,000. And, a donation to purchase a ticket to enter the race goes toward the construction of the new Casey County Community and Education Center.

The "Rubber Lucky Duck Dash" will be held on May 17 at 4 p.m. at the bridge on South U.S. 127 near Liberty Care Center.

For a $20 donation, participants purchase a rubber duck that will be dumped — along with hundreds of others — into Green River. The ducks will race toward the finish line about 1,000 feet away at the walking trail bridge at the Central Kentucky AG/EXPO Center, said

Voter registration by the numbers

By Larry Rowell
Editor

With the May 20 primary elections less than two weeks away, more city and county residents registered to vote will be able to exercise that right.

"As of today, May 5, there are 10,857 registered voters in Casey County compared to 10,498 in 2010," said Casey County Court Clerk Casey Davis, adding that in 2012, there were 10,715 on the rolls to vote. No records were kept for 2013 because there were no elections. An additional 278 voters are listed as "others."

Statewide, Secretary of State Alison Lundergan Grimes' Web site showed a record 3,105,349 people are registered to vote, up by about 68,000.

In Casey County, voter registration lists show:

- Democratic registration totaled 1,994, compared with 2,070 in the fall of 2012.
- Republican registration totaled 8,585, up from 8,375, also in the fall of 2012.
- Other party registrations are up from 270 in 2012 to 278 in 2014.
- The number of women signed up to vote in Casey County has increased from 5,511 in 2012 to 5,613 this year.
- Registration of men showed a slight increase for the same time period, from 5,204 to 5,244.

The deadline to register to vote in the May 20 primary closed on April 21.

Statewide for the upcoming primary, Republicans total 1,196,183, or 38.5 percent of voters. Democrats outnumber Republicans, totaling 1,672,664 registered voters, or 53.8 percent.

A sample ballot can be viewed in Davis' office in the old courthouse. Voting has already opened for those who furnish proof of needing to vote by absentee ballot.

Casey County Relay for Life goal for 2014 is $101,000

Cancer is a disease that shows no discrimination and continues to place a heavy weight on too many lives around the world. It is for this reason that people from all walks of life will come together on Friday night for the 17th Annual Relay For Life of Casey County.

The second most common cause of death in the US, cancer accounts for nearly 1 of every 4 deaths. According to the American Cancer Society, in 2014, around 585,720 Americans are expected to die of cancer, nearly 1,600 people per day. The estimated number of new cancer cases for 2014 in Kentucky is 25,770. Despite these grim numbers, the survival rate of cancer patients has improved from 49 percent to 68 percent in the last 40 years.

Held at the Central Kentucky AG/EXPO Center,

Vote will remain for Coffman

Being as this is the opinion page, I would like to register my opinion about our fine sheriff, Jerry Coffman.

I could write about the hundreds of drug-related arrests. I could write about his ability to manage an office with little funding. I could write about the fact that his job is to arrest people. Sentencing and chronic lack of jail time is not in his control.

What I will write about is an incident I personally witnessed. Several years ago, I was looking out the window at my work place. A dirty, scantily dressed man came stumbling from his mobile home, appearing intoxicated, and passed out in the yard very near the highway. Me and a few other guys went and hauled him back in his house. In only a few minutes he was back out stumbling around again. I called Jerry. I did not know Jerry very well at this time, so I was not biased.

When Jerry arrived, he checked on the guy laying in the yard at this time. Then Jerry finds a large bag of what looks like pills. Assuming the guy took some of these, Jerry calls the ambulance. He then takes off his own jacket, props the guy's head in his lap, and keeps him going until the medics arrive.

Since that time, I know our sheriff cares about people, even the dirty and drug addicted. This is a very scarce attribute among our current government leaders. My vote will remain for Jerry Coffman. I hope yours is the same.

Labascus derived from French name

My dad, Bobby E. Thomas, was born in Labascus and lived there until he went into the Army in 1951. He read Joberta Wells' article on how Labascus got its name. Ultimately her question was how the first postmaster, Labascus J. Minton, got his name. I found a 1920 Federal census which shows Labascus J. Minton, born about 1858, residing in Lynn, Texas. This coincides with a genealogical inquiry I found from Ellen Minton Meece who states that her great-grandfather (Labascus J. Minton) was probably born in Kentucky around 1860 and later moved to Texas.

That 1920 census gives an alternate name for Labascus J. Minton as "Labosens J. Minton." Labosens appears to be an Americanization of the French surname "Labausen," or "LaBausen." My guess — and it is only a guess — is that Labascus J. Minton actually carried a family name "Labosens" (or possibly Labausen) as his given name and "Labascus" was derived therefrom as a nickname or possibly modified because people did not know how to pronounce his French given name.

Ants, ants, ants — pests!

It's spring and the little ants are coming in. Where do they go all winter and why don't they stay there? All I know is I have been invaded by these tiny pests.

People everywhere have cures for how to get rid of them but before we go to those, let me tell you about something that happened to me recently.

I bought a pound of sausage. I was going to make my own sausage biscuits and freeze them for breakfast later. I fried the patties — seven of them. I made biscuits — yes, homemade biscuits. They are good but not as good as Hardee's. Let's face it, nobody's are as good as Hardee's but if you are hungry it's easy to nuke your own frozen sausage biscuits to eat with your morning coffee.

Anyway, I got the sausage patties fried and the biscuits made. I didn't want to put them together until they had cooled because I didn't want frozen condensation from wrapping and freezing them warm. I left the biscuits in the toaster oven to cool. I put the sausage patties on paper towels and put them in the microwave oven to cool. I figured an hour or a little more to cool them would be enough.

Okay, it was time to put the sausage patties on the biscuits. I got the biscuits out of the toaster oven. I opened the microwave oven door. Holy cow! What in the world? There were hundreds of ants crawling all over my sausage patties and the paper towels! I knew I couldn't eat the sausage patties so I decided to nuke the ants. I hit them with high power for 30 seconds. When I opened the door, they were blissfully crawling all over the sausage patties. Huh? Well, I hit them with 60 seconds of high power then opened the door. Didn't do a dangd thing to the ants but the sausage patties were beginning to look like hockey pucks. I nuked them again on high for 90 seconds. They crawled on.

I grabbed more paper towels and wrapped the sausage patties, ants, and greasy paper towels in them, carried them outside with ants crawling on my hands and up my arms, and threw them out the back door. The ants feasted on. I cleaned the microwave oven with Clorox and bemoaned the loss of the sausage patties. I froze the biscuits.

The next day I went out to pick up the paper towels I had thrown out with the sausage patties. Some grateful 'possum had eaten the sausage and there was not a sign of an ant on the paper towels. I guess they got full and went on home. What a hoot!

I have two questions. How in the world did those little pests get into the microwave oven? Why didn't microwaving them kill them? The first question is probably easy to answer but the second one is going to take some biologist with a Ph.D. to answer.

Everybody has a favorite way of getting rid of ants or deterring them. I tried commercial ant spray once and almost did myself in. I thought I was going to have to go to the ER because I couldn't breathe for several hours. I decided that natural remedies would be better. Somebody told me to sprinkle cinnamon in their path and they would go away. Tried it! Didn't work. Somebody else told me I should have tried cinnamon essential oil. I haven't tried that yet.

Since I started battling ants I have heard many remedies. One friend swears by Windex; another swears if you spray lemon juice where they are coming in the house (If you can find that place), they will not come in; some people say to draw a chalk line at their point of entry and through their paths and they will go away.

I still want to know why nuking ants in a microwave oven doesn't kill them. Surely somebody out there has the answer. Let me know, please. I'll even take good guesses.

The era of political evasion

Abigail

dore Roosevelt said, "A vote is like a rifle; its usefulness depends upon the character of the user." So, what do you do when you turn on the T.V. and decide you don't like what you're watching? You change the channel.

But "Change"...THE cliché of campaigning, the word that always makes me gag. This once progressive and promising word has become no more than tainted spittle. "Change" is used to provoke an emotional response that leaves us too distracted to remember our responsibilities as voters. It delivers one message for politicians, "out with the old and in with the new." But, what we don't seem to hear are the reasons why the "new" is any better than the "old." It seems to me that more and more politicians are running on the winds of change, and completely bypassing the part where they actually reveal all of their progressive solutions and plans to fix our old problems.

I grew up in a family of passionate citizens, who have taught me the importance of an endless education and the responsibilities that come with our freedom. I may not know everything, but I do know that no matter how many fluffy, filler words I have to wade through to get to the root of a candidate's speech or response, I will get there. And, if once there I find no questions have been answered and no proof of plans provided, I will exercise my right to publicly disagree and continue to demand answers.

I've heard my parents and others from their generation say that the youth of today, the people of MY generation, just don't care. Although I'm sure the number of educated voters my age has room for improvement, it is shameful to cast a net of fear across a body and then accuse it of being caged. I care. And I know plenty of others my age who care and are active in local government, bringing fresh perspectives to many discussion tables across the U.S.

Like most logic, this is a two way street. You cannot assume something that is new is automatically better than the old. Likewise you cannot assume that because something or someone is young, it can be discarded. We have a lot of work to do, and no more time left to waste. I can't help but agree with Abraham Lincoln, who said, "America will never be destroyed from the outside. If we falter and lose our freedoms, it will be because we destroyed ourselves."

'You can keep the money; we'll keep our dream'

David B.
WHITLOCK

Even if you're not a horse racing fan, you've got to love the story of how this year's Kentucky Derby winner, California Chrome, fulfilled the dream of his owners, Steve Coburn and Perry Martin. It's a story that inspires us to dream big and take the necessary steps to give dreams a chance of being realized.

After the Derby victory, Coburn couldn't stop staring at the replay of the race. When a reporter asked him what he was thinking about, Coburn simply said, "Our dream child doing exactly what we thought he could do when he was a baby."

Maybe by now you've read about the story that explains his comment. Several years ago Coburn was thinking about buying an airplane as a tax write-off. But that was a bit too expensive for his relative modest means. So Coburn's wife decided they should buy a horse instead. For $8,000 they purchased a mare named Love the Chase and for $2,500 bred her with a stallion named Lucky Pulpit. From that union California Chrome was born.

Three weeks before Love the Chase gave birth to California Chrome, Coburn had a dream. He could see what the horse would look like and even how he would act.

Coburn believed his dream child was destined to win the Kentucky Derby. Before the race, he told reporters, "I know in my heart that this horse is just as good, if not better, than any horse out there today."

One measure of how serious a person is in seeing a dream fulfilled is to find what it would take to give up on it.

Shortly after the March 8 San Felipe Stakes, Coburn and Martin were offered $6 million for 51 percent of California Chrome. That's more than just a chunk of change to most people, including Coburn and Martin. Indeed, they had sunk their life savings and retirement in getting California Chrome to the races.

But if they took the offer, they would have had to change the horse's silks and replace the 77-year-old trainer, Art Sherman (now the oldest trainer to win the Kentucky Derby).

And in their minds, California Chrome would no longer have been their "dream baby."

When asked why they wouldn't sell, Coburn's answer was simple: "Because this is our dream." (Coburn elaborated to reporters that he told those making the offer, "Not only no, but hell no.")

It was Olympic athlete Jesse Owens who said, "We all have dreams. But in order to make dreams come into reality, it takes an awful lot of determination, dedication, self-discipline, and effort."

Co-owners Coburn and Martin and trainer Sherman didn't just dream, they believed it, they saw it, they planned it, and they worked it.

And they wouldn't allow their dream to wear a "for sale" sign.

Jack Canfield (Chicken Soup for the Soul) the story of Monty, the son of an itinerant horse trainer. Monty dreamed of owning his own horse ranch. For his writing project during his senior year in high school, Monty wrote about his dream. His seven page paper described his 200 acre ranch in precise detail, complete with a diagram of the ranch and a floor plan for his 4,000 square foot ranch house.

The teacher scribbled an "F" on the paper.

Monty went to the teacher and asked why the paper had received a failing mark. The grammar and syntax were fine, the teacher acknowledged. But he told Monty the dream itself was unrealistic. Then, he explained to Monty why the dream was impossible and offered to re-grade the paper if Monty would write another one with a more realistic dream.

After thinking about it for a week, Monty turned the same back to the teacher and told him: "You can keep the F, and I'll keep my dream."

The true story ends years later with this same teacher taking his students on a field trip to a 200 acre ranch with a 4,000 square foot house owned by a now grown and successful Monty.

No one knows, of course, if the Kentucky Derby will be the last victory for California Chrome or if it's his first win toward winning the Triple Crown.

But one thing is for sure: He has already made believers out of doubters because his owners were willing to risk it all and tell potential buyers: "You can keep the money; we'll keep our dream."

State Government

McGaha resigns from Ethics Commission

Former state senator represented Casey County for 16 years

By Tom Loftus
The Courier-Journal

One of the eight members of the Legislative Ethics Commission said he recently submitted his resignation out of disappointment over the panel's handling of the case against former state Rep. John Arnold.

But Vernie McGaha said that he was convinced by Senate President Robert Stivers, who appointed him to the commission, to stay on until the panel decides whether to reconsider the Arnold case.

"I will be resigning now at the conclusion of the Arnold situation," McGaha said in a telephone interview. "I was disappointed, embarrassed at the last meeting we had. ... I've got other things to do."

Last month the commission voted 4-1 to find Arnold guilty of violating the ethics code in response to complaints filed last year by three legislative staff members who accused him of sexual harassment. But resulted in no finding against Arnold.

Three of the commission's members were absent at last month's meeting, and there is one vacancy.

McGaha, a Republican and former state senator from Russell Springs, was among the four members who voted that Arnold violated the ethics code.

McGaha was appointed to the commission a year ago by Stivers, R-

Manchester. He said he recently sent Stivers his resignation — effective immediately. "But President Stivers asked me to hold it until this case is resolved ... and I agreed to do that," McGaha said. "It was a reasonable request."

McGaha acknowledged he has publicly endorsed state Sen. Sara Beth Gregory of Monticello in the May 20 Republican primary election against Max Wise of Campbells-ville. Ethics commission members are prohibited from participating in the management or conduct of a political campaign. But McGaha said his support of Gregory had nothing to do with his decision to step down from the commission.

The commission has scheduled a meeting for Wednesday morning. Anthony Wilhoit, its executive director, has said last month's vote did not resolve the case. Wilhoit said the commission is expected to discuss whether it wants to reconsider the case Wednesday.

"We've had trouble getting a bare quorum at our meetings, which means there's not room for a dissenting vote," McGaha said. "If we can't do better than that on a case this large, well, I don't know if I were someone filing a complaint whether I'd file one or not."

Arnold, a Democrat from Union County, resigned from the House last year soon after the complaints were filed. His attorney has argued that he has been suffering in recent years from both physical and mental health problems including dementia.

"Terry was laying on his stomach and Travis had his back to us. But he had the .22 rifle pointed against Terry's head," Coffman said.

Also, Coffman said that Travis had Terry remove his shirt and used it as a gag to keep him from talking.

While Coffman and Walters talked to Buis, troopers from the Kentucky State Police Canine Unit who were in nearby

Russell County arrived to backup the county deputies.

Coffman said that after about 45 minutes, he agreed to Travis's demands in order to release his father.

"Travis said if we'd get him some help, he'd lay the gun down and come up and talk with us," Coffman said.

As Walters and Deputy Dennis Allen led Travis to the police cruiser parked on the road, Travis began yelling, "Don't let them take my gun. I'm one of you boys. God bless the red, white, and blue," clearly agitated and upset.

Terry said that his son put him on the floor of the trailer during the night and shortly before heading to the woods, placed clothing in a pile and set fire to it. Upon leaving the trailer before heading to the woods, he set fire to the boat.

As to what caused his son to act out of character, Terry said he could only guess.

"He just lost his job and him and his girlfriend broke up," Terry said.

However, Harris said that he had never known Travis to act that way.

"I drove him on the school bus. I've known him all my life — never known him to do anything like this," Harris said.

Still, for Coffman, he said he's glad it ended peacefully.

"I'm glad that nobody got hurt," he said.

Duck Dash

Liberty Mayor Steve Sweeney.

The first five ducks to cross the finish line will award the owners' prizes of $5,000, $4,000, $3,000, $2,000, and $1,000, respectively, he said.

"I would anticipate we'll know the winners by 4:30. If the river's way up, we may know by 4:02," Sweeney said laughing.

Tickets for the ducks can be purchased at City Hall and all contributions are tax deductible, Sweeney said.

Pancake breakfast

Sweeney said that there will be an all you care to eat pancake breakfast at the Liberty firehouse on May 17 from 6 a.m. to 9 a.m.

"We'll have pancakes, sausage, probably bacon, orange juice, coffee, and milk, all for $3. We'll also be asking for donations since proceeds go to the new college," Sweeney said.

The event also marks Ronnie Joe Wesley Day with the dedication of the new sign over the front of the Ronnie Joe Wesley Maintenance Center adjacent to the fire station. Wesley was the long time city utilities superintendent who died unexpectedly on March 7.

Construction update

Sweeney said that construction is on track for the new college in downtown Liberty and classes could begin as early as January of next year.

"The top soil has been removed down to the necessary grade and compacted fill soil has been put back in place. After that, we're ready for the foundation work to begin by next week," he said.

Organizers for the college have raised about half of the $3.6 million that will be needed to complete the project.

Somerset Community College, Campbellsville University, and Lindsey Wilson College will offer classes in the state-of-the-art building housing eight classrooms, six of which are dedicated to classes, and two which will be devoted to community and educational purposes.

These educational institutions, with input from students, will determine the classes to be offered. These include English, psychology, communications, medical terminology, math, history, and sociology, among others.

The center will also house administration offices, a computer lab, student lounge, and Workforce Investment Area office.

The Liberty-Casey County Economic Development Authority will manage the college with administrative oversight provided by city and county governments along with members of the Casey County School District.

For more information or to make a tax deductible contribution, contact EDA Director Blaine Staat at City Hall, or by calling (606) 787-7106, or by email at eda@libertykentucky.org.

Relay Format

As it has in the past, Relay will follow a format constructed in a manner that serves as a continuous reminder to participants of the taxing battle with the disease and the importance of raising funds to pay for necessary research.

Depite this important reminder, the event also serves as a celebration of hope and life for those who have endured and overcome cancer.

"We want to be able to celebrate our survivors," Tarter said.

Cancer survivors are encouraged to participate in the Survivor's Celebration and Dinner, scheduled for 5 p.m. at the Pork Producer's building. Survivors may bring one guest to the Survivor's Reception which will feature food as well as a guest speaker.

"Invitations were not sent to cancer survivors this year," Tarter said. "If you are a cancer survivor, no invitation is required."

Survivors will walk the first lap of Relay for Life and halfway during this lap will be met by caregivers, symbolizing the essential role they play in survivors' lives.

Since cancer never sleeps, each team will have one member on the track at all times.

Carrying on throughout the night, the event will feature many family-friendly games and activities such as a team contest for the Best Dressed Super Hero, a cake walk, a live auction, musical chairs and karaoke.

The event will feature live music from Doonie Rodgers and the Canoe Creek Boys at 8:30 p.m.

Opening ceremonies this year will begin at 7 p.m. As the event carries on through the night, another inspirational ceremony is held called the Luminaria ceremony.

Beginning at 11 p.m., the arena lights will be turned off as participants light hundreds of candles held in sand-filled paper bags and line them along the walking track.

Luminarias, lit in honor or memory of a loved one, can be purchased prior to or at the event.

Brand new to this year's event is the 5K Relay option, available for anyone who wants to participate in a 5K.

"For a ten dollar donation they can walk or run the amount of laps equal to a 5K," Tarter said. "Everyone who participates in this activity will be recognized. They can take all night to do it, we will be there."

Breakfast will be served by the Village Restaurant and Dairy Mart at 6:15 a.m. The closing ceremony and final lap will begin at 7 a.m. and bring the evening's event full circle with the sun rising over a new day.

Savvy Senior: How to get help with Medicare decisions

Dear Savvy Senior,

Where can I get help with my Medicare decisions? I'm approaching 65, and could use some help sorting through the different Medicare plan options that are available to me.

Almost Eligible

Dear Almost,

The options and choices available to Medicare beneficiaries today can be overwhelming. In addition to original Medicare (Part A and B) that has been around for 49 years, you also have the option of enrolling in a Part D prescription drug plan, and a supplemental (Medigap) policy – both of which are sold by private insurance companies. Or, a Medicare Advantage plan which covers health care, prescription drugs and extra services all in one. These plans, which are also sold by private insurers, are generally available through HMOs and PPOs.

To help you figure out the Medicare plans for you, there are a variety of services and tools available today depending on how much help you need. Here are several to get you started.

Free Resources

A good starting point to get familiar with Medicare is the "Medicare & You" 2014 handbook that overviews the program and your options. You can read it online at medicare.gov/pubs/pdf/10050.pdf, or you should receive a free copy in the mail one month before your 65th birthday.

The Medicare website also offers a free "Plan Finder" tool at medicare.gov/find-a-plan that can help you find and compare health plans, supplemental policies and prescription drug plans in your area. Or, if you don't have Internet access, or don't feel confident in working through the information on your own, you can also call Medicare at 800-633-4227 and a customer service representative will do the work for you over the phone.

Other free resources that can help include planprescriber.com or healthmedicare.com, two websites developed by eHealth Insurance that will compare Part D, Advantage and supplemental plans in your area and connect you to a licensed insurance agent.

In addition, the Medicare

Rights Center (medicare-rights.org) staffs a hotline at 800-333-4114 to help answer your Medicare questions.

And your State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP) provides free Medicare counseling in person or over the phone. To find a local SHIP counselor see ship-talk.org, or call the Eldercare Locator at 800-677-1116.

And, for tips on choosing a top Medicare Advantage plan, see the HealthMetrix Research Cost Share Report at medicarenewswatch.com. This resource lists the best Advantage plans by area based on your health status.

Fee-Based Services

If the free services don't cut the mustard and you need some additional help in making your Medicare decisions, there are a handful of fee-based companies that are very helpful.

One of the best is Allsup Inc. (ama.allsup.com, 866-521-7655) which offers a Medicare Advisor service that takes your personal information online or over the phone, such as the prescription drugs you take and the doctors you use, and provides you customized advice on the best Medicare plans that match your needs and budget. They'll even help you enroll in the plan(s) you select.

Another option is Healthcare Navigation (healthcare-navigation.com, 877-811-8211). There is a fee for both of these services.

Commission-Based

Another way to get help with your Medicare enrollment is to consult an independent insurance agent. Agents typically get paid a commission to sell you a policy, although they offer plans from a number of providers.

The Independent Insurance Agents and Brokers of America have a directory on their website (see independentagent.com/contactus) that lets you search for agents in your area. But keep in mind that agents typically specialize in the Medicare plans they represent, rather than all the plans in your market.

Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior.org. Jim Miller is a contributor to the NBC Today show and author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

The Family of Christine Noel

Vintage steam train to roll into Danville

The Advocate Messenger

Train aficionados will be in for a treat May 17-18 when a vintage steam train full of passengers rolls into Danville.

The Tennessee Valley Railroad Museum teamed up with Norfolk Southern to offer an interactive, historical experience in a vintage train for passengers from Cincinnati to Danville, and back.

According to Jennifer Kirchner, director of Danville-Boyle County Convention and Visitors Bureau, 670 passengers will disembark in Danville each day. Once the train arrives in Danville at 12:30 p.m., the passengers will be picked up by buses provided by the Danville school system, complete with a tour guide. After a quick tour, visitors will be dropped off at Constitution Square and spend the time in town enjoying music in the park, having lunch and visiting downtown shops, before they need to be back on the train at 2:30 p.m. Kirchner said the band "Five" will provide music, and Melton's Great American Deli and Captain Franks Hotdog Emporium will have box lunches at Constitution Square for purchase. Visitors also will have the option to have lunch at one of the downtown restaurants.

"This is going to be a fast and furious visit," said Kirchner. "But it is a win for downtown and a great marketing opportunity for Danville. Cincinnati is one of our feeder markets for visitors so we're going to do everything we can, while we have a captive audience, to really show how beautiful Danville is and entice them to hopefully come back for the Brass Band and Barbecue Festivals, or for a weekend getaway."

Kirchner said many of the shops usually closed on Sunday will open for the steam train visit.

"This steam train is a sight to be seen," said Kirchner. "We're really hoping lots of people from the community will come down and watch and welcome the train in, to watch it pull into the station. It's a steam train with over 12 cars, so it's huge. This is not something that comes through Danville very often."

Kirchner encourages the community to come out to the train station at 12:30 p.m. each day to meet the train. The CVB is also looking for volunteers to help with the train visit, even if it's just to be at Constitution Square to answer questions. Anyone who is interested may contact the CVB by email at mariel@betterindanville.com or by phone (859) 236-7794.

Striped bass coming back in Lake Cumberland

Kentucky Press News Service

A jointed Thunderstick or Redfin lure slowly worked on the surface along a main lake bank on Lake Cumberland at 3 a.m. in late April may provoke a reaction from a striped bass that feels like it could rip your arm off your shoulder.

The savagery of a surface strike from a striped bass on a late spring night on Lake Cumberland is one of the outdoor experiences that sears into the brain, leaving a lifelong scar that itches every spring.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers completed the repair work on Wolf Creek Dam in the past year and the lake level is inching its way back up, making the striped bass happy.

"It looks full to the eye," said John Williams, southeastern fisheries district biologist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "I think it is going to be a really good year for striped bass fishing."

Now, with lake levels approaching the historic summer pool, the stripers are gorging themselves.

"The striped bass are much healthier this year with better body condition and better growth," Williams said. "Most anglers will notice a significant increase in size this year over last year. They grew better last year than the year before and I think the water quality is even better this year."

Williams said population sampling for striped bass revealed a good population of fish from 25 to 32 inches long.

"A couple of years ago, it was all 22 to 25 inches," he said. "I don't think they will be throwing many back this year."

Currently, a 22-inch minimum size limit with a two fish daily creel limit is in effect on striped bass in Lake Cumberland. Anglers right now are catching striped bass in the back of creeks by trolling live shad or alewives on down rods or planer boards from 5 to 25 feet deep.

Stripers are also striking white doll flies cast to the banks in the creeks. Live shad or alewives fished on the bottom on secondary points in the creeks also draw striped bass right now. Williams said they saw many stripers along the face of the dam recently during large-mouth bass population sampling.

Tourism impact on Kentucky significant

Kentucky Press News Service

The economic impact of tourism in Kentucky amounted to more than $12.5 billion in 2013, Gov. Steve Beshear and Tourism, Arts and Heritage Secretary Bob Stewart announced recently. The economic impact figure is a 2.6 percent increase from 2012.

"Our tourism industry continues to grow because Kentucky has stunning natural beauty, interesting and exciting attractions, and world class hospitality that make our visitors want to come back over and over again," Beshear said. "Its growth is also evidence of the hard work of tourism businesses and the professionals who work hard each and every day to make Kentucky the great destination it is."

The release of the figures coincides with National Travel and Tourism Week, celebrated May 3-11 this year.

"The continued popularity of bourbon and a steady uptick in the meetings and conventions sector will be important for our ability to attract even more visitors to Kentucky this year," Stewart said. "The opening of the new convention center in Owensboro; the reopening of Kentucky Kingdom later this month; the return of normal water level at Lake Cumberland and the fact we are hosting the PGA Championship, which brings with it tremendous television coverage, all point to a great opportunity for growth this year."

The annual survey also showed that tourism was responsible for 175,746 jobs in Kentucky in 2013 – an increase of 1,740 jobs from the previous year. These jobs generated more than $2.8 billion in wages for Kentucky workers, an increase of nearly $72 million from the previous year.

Tourism generated $1.3 billion in tax revenues for local and state governments in 2013, an increase from $1.23 billion in 2012. Seven of the nine tourism regions showed gains for 2013.

The report was produced by Certec Inc. of Versailles. For more details about the economic impact study, including county-level expenditures, visit www.kentuckytourism.com/industry and click on "research."

How to reduce your risks of having a stroke

By LuAnn Elmore, A.P.R.N.

Stroke is the leading cause of long-term disability in the United States and the third leading cause of death. According to the American Stroke Association, roughly 800,000 Americans per year will suffer from a stroke. Fortunately, individuals who understand warning signs and risk factors can significantly reduce their risks of having a stroke.

It is important to take advantage of National Stroke Awareness Month this May by learning more about strokes. A stroke occurs when the flow of blood to the brain suddenly has stopped, causing partial loss of brain function. Consequently, this lack of blood flow deprives the brain of oxygen, which damages and even kills brain cells.

If you think you or someone else could be suffering from a stroke, it is important to take immediate action. The longer an individual waits for medical attention, the more permanent the damage may be. Individuals should be taken to the hospital within the first three hours of a stroke. Warning signs of a stroke may include:

- sudden confusion, trouble speaking or understanding
- sudden trouble seeing in one or both eyes
- sudden trouble walking, dizziness, loss of balance or coordination
- sudden, severe headache with no known cause
- The American Stroke Association has found 80 percent of strokes to be preventable. To help prevent a stroke, the following steps are recommended:
  - Know your cholesterol level and make changes to improve it.
  - Maintain a healthy weight.
  - Don't smoke.
  - Exercise moderately for at least 30 minutes, most days of the week.
  - Eat more whole grains.
  - Get at least 600 milligrams of calcium daily from dairy products.
  - Get at least 300 micrograms of folate daily from foods such as beans, orange juice, nuts and green, leafy vegetables.

During a stroke, communication can be difficult; therefore, it is important to understand the symptoms and call 9-1-1 as soon as possible.

Turner recognized for creation of food pantry at Middleburg Baptist

Joshua Turner was recently recognized with a certificate from the Kentucky Commission on Community Volunteerism and Service and Gov. Steve Beshear in the category of Faith Based for his creation of a food pantry at Middleburg Baptist Church.

Josh was nominated for the 19th Annual Governor's Awards for Volunteerism and Service by Jennifer Hamilton, an AmeriCorps employee at Jones Park Elementary. The award recognizes volunteers who have given immeasurable amounts of service to Kentucky without expectation of reward or compensation.

Josh's calling

During a youth revival in 2012, Josh went to the altar each night and prayed. After the service, the 11-year-old and his parents, Charles and Carla Turner, had lengthy discussions on his feelings.

"I feel like I need to do something, I need to do more," said Josh.

Josh said that God had laid it on his heart to start a food pantry at their local church, not to just serve their church community but the entire county. After presenting his heart's desire to the church, it was approved. Little did Josh know when he was praying about this matter that two other food pantries in the county had recently discontinued their services.

Since the food pantry has been operational it has not only helped needs in the county but also sent supplies to Colorado after their enormous floods. Over the Christmas season, 200 cans of food were given to families in the county, in addition to $200 that was used towards purchases of fresh food such as milk, bread, and eggs. Currently the pantry has distributed more than 500 cans of food and $500 worth of fresh food items.

"Since I've started a food pantry, I have figured out that I am so blessed and fortunate. I realized that I took a bunch of stuff for granted. For example, a home big enough for my family, and that I am very comfy," said Josh.

The Casey County Alumni Association (CCAA) will hold its annual meeting to recognize its scholarship recipients and Hall of Fame inductee on Saturday, May 24. This year, the CCAA will administer nearly $25,000 to graduating seniors and past graduates who are to be or are currently enrolled in college.

The CCAA will award 13 high school seniors $750 for the 2014-2015 school year, with the opportunity to renew these awards if funds are available in the future and if other criteria for continued eligibility are met by these students during their college career. The 13 seniors who have been selected for a CCAA scholarship are: Andrew Beal; Shelby Bell; Andrea Butler; Mikayla Durham; James Kuhn; Draven Lee; Marcus Salyers; Cassidy Sims; Hanna Wahl; Mackenzie Watts; Madison

COFFEY

Watts; Kayla Wilson; and Presley Taylor.

Additionally, two current college students will have their awards renewed. Those students are Jessica Hogue and Jacklyn Wahl.

The CCAA also oversees the selection of students for the Middleburg School Scholarship. This award is $3,000 per school year and is also eligible for renewal as funds exist and other minimum requirements are met by the recipient. The two graduating seniors who have been selected for this award are Mary Elizabeth McDonald and Zane Lowe. Two awards were also renewed for past recipients, Kaylee Greer and Martha Valencia.

In addition to honoring these students, the CCAA will also induct Dr. David Coffey into the Hall of Fame.

Dr. Coffey grew up on a farm in the Phil area where he attended Phil grade school. He then went on to Middleburg High School where he played on the varsity basketball team and graduated as valedictorian in 1958. He enrolled in the University of Kentucky and obtained a BS and MS degrees in Agronomy and Horticulture in 1962 and 1964 respectively. He then attended Purdue University obtaining the Ph.D. in Horticulture and Soils in 1967.

Dr. Coffey was recruited to the University of Tennessee Institute of Agriculture in 1967 and over his 35 year career at UT has been affiliated with the Departments of Horticulture (1967-1972), Plant and Soil Science (1973-2001) and Plant Sciences and Landscape Systems (2001-2002). He was promoted to full professor in 1981. He has been responsible for teaching various courses in Crop Science, Physiology and Ecology and Vegetable Production and for advising undergraduate and graduate students.

During his career at UT, he was mentor and thesis research director for approximately 40 Masters and Ph.D. degree students. His research program involved basic and applied research in vegetable crops. His research emphasis at the time of his retirement in 2002 was in Plastic-culture Technology in the culture and management of vegetable crops.

Dr. Coffey has always provided help to those less fortunate and maintained high Christian ethical standards. He considers as one of his most important contribution to be his 20 year service to the UT Institute of Agriculture Scholarship Committee where more than $5 million in scholarship monies were awarded to deserving agricultural students.

Perhaps the best examples where Dr. Coffey gave his talents to serve the better good was his several visits to Romania and later Azerbaijan. After the fall of the Soviet Bloc these small nations were in serious need of more food even though there were many farms and farmers. The farmers had worked in the farm collectives and had no clue how to be a private farmer or to use modern farm practices. Dr. Coffey traveled to Timisoara Romania five times to teach and help the farmers learn what they needed to know.

Dr. Coffey and his wife Sarah live in Knoxville, Tenn. and attend the Calvary Baptist Church. Dr. Coffey makes trips back to Casey almost every week. Dr. Coffey, with his brother Charles, still own and help manage their Casey County family farm near Phil.

The luncheon and awards banquet will be held at the First Christian Church fellowship hall. The door will open at 11:30 a.m., with lunch to be served at 12 noon. The cost of the meal is $15 per person in advance, $20 at the door. Please RSVP to the luncheon prior to March 14 to Lily Jane Sandusky at 463 Shugars Hill Rd., Liberty, Ky. 42539.

Checks for the luncheon should be made payable to the CCAA.

Lee makes her ‘point’ in region tourney

By Rita “Peat” Harris
Sports Correspondent

If there is one lesson the Lady Rebel tennis team learned throughout the 12th Region tournament last weekend, it’s that every point truly matters.

A tied team score at the end of the tournament at Berea College in Berea, required Casey have a late night play-off with West Jessamine to determine the who would bring home the 2014 12th Region title.

Just like the closeness of the tournament itself, the playoff came down to the final match, which was being played by the Lady Rebels’ youngest member, eighth grader Laci Lee, who came out on top in a super tiebreak, earning Casey it’s first back-to-back regional title.

“I’m very proud of the girls and the way they have played in the tournament this weekend,” said Coach Marvetta Overstreet.

Team

Casey was well aware that West Jessamine, a new team to the 12th Region, was a worthy opponent, as they had just faced the Lady Colts the Tuesday before. Unfortunately, bad weather kept the teams from completing their regular season match at that time.

“(The match) gave us an idea of what to expect from this team we had not played previously, and the matches were challenging,” said Overstreet about the regular season match.

Going into Monday’s championship matches, the Lady Rebels led the team competition by one point over West Jessamine. The teams of Casey and West Jessamine held three of the four remaining spots in the championship matches.

Casey senior Haley Owens would face West Jessamine’s Katie Mitchell in singles and the Casey doubles team of senior Sara Coffman and junior Chelsey Lynn would face the Mercer duo of Samantha Green and Christy Ingram.

“If either our singles or doubles team wins on Monday, we will secure the regional championship,” Overstreet said on Saturday. “If neither team wins, we will have to have a playoff — a five-point match — to settle the tie and determine the regional team champion.”

It became quite a long evening when Casey was unable to claim the singles nor the doubles title, sending the Lady Colts and Lady Rebs into the five-point playoff of three singles matches and two doubles.

With Owens, Coffman and Lynn already worn down from matches, the rest of Casey’s team did what was necessary to help their team secure the team title.

Despite putting up another strong fight, Mitchell defeated Owens, 7-5, 6-4, for the second time during the night.

Laci Lee, center, has the support of her Rebel tennis teammates after she won a super tiebreak to take the 12th Region tournament played at Berea College on Monday. Coffman and Lynn faced Bailey Ludt and LeeAnn Strait and played a neck and neck match that resulted in a super tie-break, which the Lady Rebels lost, 10-4.

“They were so fatigued at that point because they’d been on the court (so long),” said Overstreet.

However, freshman Amber Pierce, who went out of the regular tournament in the second round, won 4-0 over Emily Ingram while juniors Madison Lee and Taylor Monday prevailed 6-0, 6-1 in doubles.

With the teams sitting at 2-2 in the playoff, the victor would come down to the number three singles match, which was being played by Casey’s Laci Lee, the only Lady Rebel who had not competed in the regular tournament.

“You are required to have a seventh player in case of a tie like that one, but I never really thought it would come to that,” said Overstreet. “It was tough. An eighth grader to pull that knowing the outcome of my match (determines my team’s finish).”

It was a long match with Lee losing the first set in a tie break 7-6 (8-6). She then came back to triumph 6-2 in the second set, calling for a 10-point super tie-break. Finally, shortly before 9:30 p.m. on Monday, Lee made it official, winning 10-5, and Casey County was named the 2014 12th Region Champions.

“This was an outstanding victory won on the backs of determination. I am so thrilled I got to take this journey with them,” said the coach.

Singles

Owens brought home the singles regional runner-up title for the second year in a row after falling to Mitchell in the championship match, 6-3, 6-1.

Owens, seeded number one in the tournament, breezed past her early competition from Pulaski and Berea and even took down West Jessamine’s second singles player who was the eight seed. Owens then faced Kyleigh Murray from Mercer County in the semi-finals and triumphed 6-4, 6-4.

Despite having defeated Mitchell 8-5 in a regular season match the week prior, Owens fell 6-3, 6-1 on Monday night and was named the singles runner-up in this year’s tournament.

“In the final match for the singles title Haley struggled to find her best game,” said Overstreet. “I don’t know if it was because it was the first day we played in the 80 degree heat or the pressure of winning.”

Pierce represented the Lady Rebels in singles play as well. She won her opening match against Lincoln’s Alyssa Turner before facing the number seven seed and defending regional champion, Emily Major from Garrard County.

Major won 7-5, 6-1. Major was later taken out of the tournament in the semi-finals by Mitchell.

Doubles

Despite being the 2013 regional runner-up doubles team, Coffman and Lynn were seeded seventh in this year’s tournament. The duo picked up wins over Southwestern, Lincoln County, and Somerset in the first three rounds of play and then faced the team from West Jessamine in the semifinals.

The Lady Colt duo, Ludt and Strait, were ranked second in the tournament, and defeated Coffman and Lynn, 8-3, in Casey’s match with West Jessamine the previous Tuesday.

However, much like last year when Coffman and Lynn were ranked sixth in the tournament and advanced to the championship match, taking down higher seeds along the way, the Lady Rebel duo defeated the West Jessamine team 6-1, 6-4 and advanced to the championship match.

The championship match was a near replica of the 2013 match, pitting the Casey team against a Mercer County team. While Murray and Ingram teamed up for the Lady Titans in 2013 and won the doubles title, this year Ingram played with Green while Murray competed in singles. Green and Ingram triumphed over Coffman and Lynn 6-3, 6-4 for the title and the Lady Rebels were again named the runner-up duo.

“Sara and Chelsey played as well as they could against Mercer County’s number one doubles team,” said Overstreet.

Also playing for Casey in doubles was the team of Madison Lee and Monday. The duo advanced through the first two rounds with wins taking down the number six seed, a team from Boyle “Taylor and Maddie, they upset the number six seed. We wouldn’t have been in the (team championship play-off) if they hadn’t gotten that match,” Overstreet said.

Despite falling short of claiming the singles or doubles titles, Overstreet is pleased with her athletes.

“I’m so proud that these players have accomplished their personal goals of returning to the final matches, and as finalists they also automatically advance to the state tournament.”

The team will compete in sectionals this weekend being held at Centre College. If the team advances far enough in the tournament, they will earn a team bid to the state tournament.

If they do not, Owens along with Coffman and Lynn will compete at the state level individually.

Lady Rebs softball team defeats Pulaski County, 11-5

By Rita “Peat” Harris
Sports Correspondent

Poor weather meant the Lady Rebel softball team only got in one game last week; however, it was the one that really mattered. Casey triumphed over the Pulaski County Lady Maroons 11-5 for the third time this season and closed out their regular season district play.

“They weren’t hitting (at first) and I told them don’t worry about it, just play the next one,” said Coach Bryan Cross. “These girls have learned what mental toughness means.”

The Lady Rebels are now 8-12 (3-4) having won seven of their last 11 games.

Casey previously beat Pulaski (7-17, 0-8) on Apr. 12 and most recently on Apr. 24, 11-1. Despite the previous victories, Casey got a run for their money in the early innings.

“It was tied at one in the first inning but they got up on us 4-1,” said Cross.

After sophomore Lauren Wethington drove in freshman Kyra Eads for the team’s first run in the top of the first, Casey’s runs stalled out for the next three innings.

Meanwhile, Pulaski, who also had one run in the first inning, scored two more in the third and picked up another in the fourth to make the score 4-1.

“I really feel like the reason we didn’t hit the ball is because we hadn’t taken an outdoor swing in a week,” said Cross.

In the fifth inning, however, Casey found it’s swing again.

“We had a big fifth inning,” the coach said. “We had a pretty good little run.”

Hits, walks, steals and smart base running led to five runs in the fifth to put Casey ahead 6-4. Pulaski added one run in the bottom of the inning to make the score 6-5.

While Casey finally found its bats, Pulaski lost theirs and did not score the rest of the game. Meanwhile, the Lady Rebels chalked up three more runs in the sixth and two in the seventh to total at 11 runs. “We’ve been a lot a better (late in the season),” said Cross.

district play over, Casey earned the number three seed for the 47th District tournament coming up on May 19. They will face Somerset whom they have lost to twice by only two runs twice this season.

“All four teams in our district, on any given night, can beat each other,” Cross said. “The three teams in our district are those kinds of teams; who comes to play that night.”

Meanwhile, Casey has a week and a half of regular season play to conclude. They played Wayne County last night (see next week’s issue for results). They host Danville tonight and Mercer County tomorrow before traveling to Lincoln County for a double header on Friday.

Miller clears 5 feet to win high jump at CKC

More records were broken in Casey County’s final track meet before the regional championships coming up this Saturday.

Friday’s Central Kentucky Conference (CKC) meet at West Jessamine in Nicholasville saw freshman Chase Williams set a new junior high mile record and seventh grader Jenna Vaughn set a new junior high two-mile record.

GIRLS

With some athletes absent from the meet, the Lady Rebels did not earn as high a team finish as they could have; however, junior Lakken Miller did bring home gold in the high jump while Vaughn broke the junior high two-mile record by 22 seconds.

“There was some great competition there,” Coach Jon Vaughn said. “It was a cold night. Very cold.”

Miller cleared 5’0” in the high jump, taking home first place as the only competitor to clear the height. Teammate Allison Dallman tied for third place. The sophomore cleared 4’10” along with two competitors from Woodford County, so the number of scratches determined their placing.

“Lakken and Allison (should) qualify for state (in high jump),” Vaughn said. “There is an automatic qualifier that I believe is 4’10”.”

Jenna Vaughn ran the two-mile event for the first time this season.

Coach Vaughn used the meet to put the distance runners in events longer than they usually compete. However, Jenna also ran her usual race, the mile, taking seventh place in a time of 5:49.55

“The reason I put her in there was it was cold,” Vaughn said, adding he knew it would be around 9 p.m. before the two mile event took place.

vorite event, Jenna’s time of 12:51.06 broke Robin Wall’s record of 13:13.12 in 1993.

“I’ll take that. I knew she could run in the 12’s,” said Vaughn.

Vaughn and Miller also teamed up to be a part of Casey’s 4x400-meter relay that finished fifth. The two were joined by seventh graders Chelsea Elmore and Noel Davison to run 4:40.77 and earn fifth place.

“I ran the four-by-four to give Lakken the chance to do another one, but Jenna had just run the 3200,” Vayghn said, noting the time could have been better for the team.

With team scoring going through eighth place, Jadrian Couch, an eighth-grader, picked up points when she earned seventh place in the 300-meter hurdles. Her time was 56.36.

Dallman had an eighth place finish in the 200-meter dash, running 29.25.

Sophomore Kayla Murphy joined freshmen Hannah Lynn, Haley Lynn, and Jenna Carman in the 400-meter relay. The foursome ran 59.34 for eighth place.

In addition to Miller and Dallman’s gold and bronze in the field, the Lady Rebels also performed well in the throwing events and the long jump.

Seventh grader Brenna Hayes earned third in both the discus and shot put with throws of 90’4” and 32’1,” respectively. Junior Autumn Woods was sixth in the shot put, throwing 30’5”.

Couch jumped 14’0” in the long jump, good enough for sixth place.

“Her best last year was 14’7”,” said Vaughn. “She was really happy with (14’0”).”

The team was lacking key performers, senior pole vaulter Shelby Stringer and junior hurdler Tiara Cochran, at Friday’s meet.

BOYS

Freshman Chase Williams continues to shave time from his mile performance. Last week’s CKC run not only earned him sixth place, but it also set a new Casey County junior high record by a matter of tenths of a second.

Williams ran 4:54.99, beating Shawn Whitis’ record of 4:55.48 set in 1994.

“Chase ran an awesome mile,” Coach Vaughn said.

Also setting a junior high record was eighth grader Noah Brown. Brown recently broke the school’s 800-meter record last week and then turned around to smash his own record on Friday. Brown ran 2:10.79 and earned eighth place.

Teammate Blake Durham, a junior, competed in the half mile event also, even though he has been running shorter distances all season. His time of 2:13.49 just missed the mark of scoring points as he finished ninth.

“Blake hadn’t run in a week and a half, so I was happy with that (time),” said Vaughn. “I think if he was in shape, I’d probably put him the 800 (at regionals).”

Regional Preview

The fifth region championship will take place Saturday at Boyle County’s track for the double A division. Vaughn is still deciding exactly which events all of his athletes will compete in on Saturday.

“It’s that time of year where it’s gut-wrenching for me (to decide) what to put them in and what not to,” said Vaughn. “You can run a distance runner into the ground, so I’m trying to make smart decisions, but they are tough decisions.”

With the Lady Rebels earning several high team finishes at invationals throughout the season, Vaughn knows they can potentially finish well at region.

“I think we’ll finish really high. I haven’t thought about that a whole lot lately, because I’m focused on getting those (individuals) to state who can make it,” said Vaughn. “I think we are very capable of getting second. If we really perform well we could get first but we’re not going to load them up on events so that it’s going to affect (those trying to qualify for state).”

Vaughn looks for Stringer and Miller to make return appearances at the state meet. Stringer is the defending 2A state champion in pole vault and Miller jumped 4’8” in the high jump at both region and state last year. Vaughn says Dallman is also performing well enough in the high jump to earn a bid to the state meet.

Also looking promising is Hayes in the throwing events.

“She has a very good chance (at qualifying for state),” said Vaughn, adding she has thrown far enough in the past to reach the automatic qualifying distance of 99’10”.

“I would be surprised if she didn’t make it in discus or shot and Autumn Woods has a (chance also).”

Vaughn said other runners and relays have some potential of making it to state, but, because of their youth, he does not want to add the pressure of expectations on these athletes.

“Jenna (Vaughn) has an outside shot, but no pressure. She’s only in seventh grade,” he said. “The four-by four (girls) relay has a real outside chance this year.”

Regional competition for all seven regions will begin on Friday and will continue through Saturday with the state meet taking place in Lexington at the University of Kentucky on May 23-24.

Rebel men’s tennis close out play in 12th Region Tournament

By Rita “Peat” Harris
Sports Correspondent

The Rebel tennis squad concluded their 2014 season over the weekend in the 12th Region Tournament held at Berea College.

“I cannot be displeased,” said Coach Phil Williams. “I’m tremendously excited for them and thankful for the year.”

None of Casey’s singles or doubles players earned tournament seeds, but senior Justin Underwood advanced to the quarterfinals, the farthest of any of the Rebels.

Underwood took a first round victory, winning 6-1, 6-1 over Russell’s J.T. Holt. He advanced to play the number eight seed in the second round, Anand Prabhu of Southwestern.

Despite not being ranked, Underwood put up a fight to win 7-5, 2-6, 10-8.

Boyle’s Ben Kendrick, the number four seed, then defeated Underwood in the quarterfinals, 6-4, 6-3.

“Justin played well but we just fell short,” said Williams.

Trent Rodgers also competed in singles play for the Rebels. The senior had the unfortunate draw of facing the number six seed in the opening round. Garrard’s Spencer Anderson defeated Rogers 6-3, 6-4.

“(Anderson) was a nice player. There is a no way to not run into people who are very capable. It’s not that Trent didn’t play well.”

In doubles play, Casey’s eighth-grade duo advanced to the second round before going down to the tournament number two seed.

Eighth graders Luke Johnson and Jackson Ponder triumphed over a Madison Southern duo 6-3, 6-2 in the opening round. The two Rebels then faced the experienced team from West Jessamine and lost 6-1, 6-0.

Also competing in doubles was freshman Luke Coffman and eighth grader Austin Hame. They were defeated by a Danville duo, 6-4, 6-2.

“People have to realize my team was two seniors — a freshman and three eighth graders,” said Williams. “It’s difficult for me to put a lot of pressure on anyone, but as far as performance they performed great.”

The team finishes the 2014 season with a 10-7 record, maintaining the program’s record of never having a losing season.

“I’m in wonderment because we’ve never had a losing season and I was wrestling with all of that (coming into the season),” said Williams, admitting the youth this season gave good reason to believe 2014 might be the year the program saw its first losing record.

“I think the reason it wasn’t, was because of the commitment of the players last summer. They worked really hard and I think it paid off.”

Despite not having a regional title or even a runner-up title, Williams expressed his pride in seeing Casey’s tennis program shine through

The Rebel basketball team had their season ending banquet on April 15 at the Casey County Extension Office to honor players, coaches, managers and all of those involved in the season’s success.

Players with more than 50 percent of their playing minutes on varsity received a unique pin. Coach Maze Stallworth said each year a new pin will be presented for this achievement.

Six individual awards were also presented.

Freshman Collin Miller was honored for most assists in the season. Juniors Tanner Davis and Jordan Brown shared the Most Improved honors, each receiving an award. Freshman Jake Smith received the “Jack Stanford Award,” for collecting the most points in a season.

Senior Zack Scott received the “Mr. Hustle” award while fellow senior Baylen Hill was presented the “Bob Payne Award,” which is given to the player who best displays what the Rebel program is all about — toughness and hard work.

The team graduates three seniors, Hill, Scott and Cody Clark. Their first season under Stallworth ended with the 47th District runner-up title and a trip to the 12th Region tournament. Their 2013-14 record was 12-21.

Every athlete knows their career has an expiration date, and oftentimes that expiration is high school graduation. Zack Scott may have thought that was his basketball career end date at one point but the senior’s hard work has earned him the privilege of taking his skills to the next level.

Scott will attend Kentucky Christian University (KCU) next fall where he will become a member of the Knights basketball team.

“I’ve always wanted to play at the college level and it was always my dream to go as far as I could but I never thought I’d have enough skill to play,” Scott said. “I’m excited and humbled.”

It was late in the Rebel basketball season when the potential to play for KCU came to Scott’s attention.

“Coach Maze (Stallworth) said he had talked to Coach (Ron) Reed and he’d kind of been looking at me,” Scott said.

Knowing he was being scouted by a college coach gave Scott extra motivation through the final weeks of his high school career. It was several weeks after the season concluded when the Knight’s coach, Reed, invited Scott to come to KCU’s campus to play.

“We went up there and played about five pick up games and there were a couple other people he’d asked to come play,” said Scott.

Reed complimented Scott’s play that day but did not talk to him about officially becoming a Knight.

Reed contacted Stallworth with the news that he wanted to invite Scott to play on his team beginning in the 2014-15 season.

“I plan on going and playing my heart out and whatever they want to do I’ll do the best of my ability and give it all I’ve got,” Scott said.

Scott is unsure of his major at this point but says he has interest in the agriculture field. Despite not knowing his major, Scott feels KCU’s campus is a fit for him.

“I made a visit about a week after I played. I really enjoyed it. I liked the atmosphere and how small it is,” he said, noting students are required to attend chapel. “That’ll keep me centered where I need to be.”

Until his career at KCU begins, Scott continues to play ball with his Rebel teammates on Sunday and Wednesday nights, still grateful to Stallworth for the single season he got to play under him as Casey’s head coach.

“About every Sunday and sometimes on Wednesday we go to one of the schools and we get in pick up games,” Scott said. “I would do anything to have another year with Coach Maze. He worked me harder than anybody.”

Scott is the son of Amy and Hartley Scott.

29 lbs. of drugs turned in on RX Take Back Day

Permanent drop box located at Liberty Police Department

Casey County Agency for Substance Abuse Policy (ASAP), Liberty Police Department and Casey County Sheriff's Department again sponsored the Rx National Take Back Day on April 26.

ASAP volunteers, along with law enforcement from both departments, staffed the event and collected 29 pounds of expired, unused and unwanted prescription drugs from Casey County residents.

The effort helps in preventing pill abuse and theft by ridding homes of potentially dangerous Rx drugs.

Although these annual events are very successful, Casey County now has a permanent Rx Drop Box located in front of Liberty Police Department.

Prescriptions drugs can be discarded here daily (no liquids, needles or sharps) with no questions asked.

Studies show that a majority of abused prescription drugs are obtained from family and friends, including from the home medicine cabinet.

Flushing them down the toilet or throwing them in the trash pose potential safety and health hazards.

The permanent RX Take Back box is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, at the Liberty Police Department for safe disposal of prescription drugs. Liquids and syringes are not accepted.

photos/SUBMITTED

SHERIFF

Incumbent sheriff challenged by two for office

By Abigail Whitehouse
Staff Writer

Three Republicans are vying for sheriff as the incumbent, Jerry Coffman, is being challenged by Jerry Rodgers and James Earl King.

Coffman has 20 years of law enforcement experience- nine years as a deputy sheriff and 11 years as Casey County Sheriff.

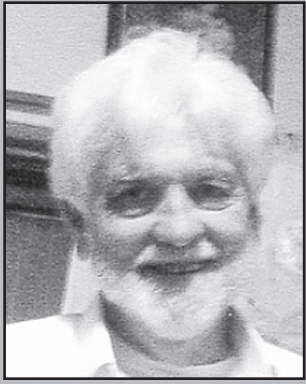

Neither of Coffman's opponents, Jerry Rodgers or James Earl King, have previous law enforcement experience.

Jerry Coffman

Coffman said this has been his life for more than 20 years and being able to help someone makes the job really fulfilling.

"I think that the experience that my staff and I have is extremely important in handling the day to day job that this position requires."

SHERIFF

COFFMANKINGRODGERS

All of the sheriff's department deputies are certified officers through the Department of Criminal Justice at Richmond.

"Meth and other drugs are one of the most pressing issues the department is faced with. My deputies and myself will continue the fight against drugs and crime and strive to make our communities a safer place for our families and loved ones."

Coffman said that the experience and training that the office of sheriff requires is not gained in a short time.

"It requires a lot of time and dedication from someone that believes in law enforcement and the betterment of lives in their county and communities."

Married to Patty Coffman, the couple has two daughters, Chasity and Sara, and a son, Luke. They live at 585 Delp Road.

James Earl King

James Earl King said he wants to do his part to reduce the crime in Casey County and make it safer for our citizens and families.

"(I plan to) perform the duties of the sheriff's position with respect and honor to the law and citizens. If you call seeking assistance, someone will be there to investigate, no matter the issue. There will be a thorough investigation with any needed follow up in every attempt to resolve the issue."

Decreasing the drug activity in Casey County is what King said would be his main focus if elected to position of sheriff.

King and his wife, Wanda Gale King, have three children, LaDeanna Yocum, James Earl King Jr., and the late Linda King Harmon. They live at 115 Martins Creek Road.

Jerry Rodgers

Jerry Rodgers of 145 Ky. 1547, is a well known owner and operator of Jerry's Auto Salvage and Jerry's Used Cars. He said he is seeking the position of sheriff because he would like to make Casey County a safe place to raise kids and grandkids.

"I believe in fairness. I want to help Casey County become a better place to live."

Rodgers said he would like to see more harsh consequences for people who are involved with drugs and alcohol as well as cut down on the thievery in the county.

"I have owned an operated my own business for over 30 years. I have made an honest living for my family and that is what I want to do if elected. All I want is to be fair and honest with the citizens of Casey County."

A U.S. Army veteran, Rodgers attends Ellsburg Baptist Church.

JAILER

Miller faces challenger Hayes for county jailer seat

By Abigail Whitehouse
Staff Writer

Longtime incumbent Jailer Tommy Miller will face challenger T.J. Hayes in the May primary. The winner will then be unopposed in the November general election.

Tommy Miller

With 19 years of experience as jailer, Tommy Miller said he intends to continue doing what has proven to be successful.

"I want to continue to make the Casey County Detention Center a success for our county in that it continues to be self sufficient in all the years of operation."

Miller said he is the most qualified candidate for this position because he has established working relationships with jailers across the state to help keep the jail beds filled with paying inmates. He also said that he has created a good working relationship with Kentucky Department of Corrections Officials, which he believes to be essential to making sure the jail continues to be successful.

"I feel the most pressing issue facing the jails in the near future is the new legislation that has been passed that has affected the sentencing laws in Kentucky and the legislation that dealt with the state's prison population."

With inmates being placed on probation and parole at alarming rates, Miller said inmates awaiting probation revocation hearings and those released on work programs that are reoffending, are a cost to the county and taxpayers as well.

"Having the good working relationships with jail-

JAILER

ers across the state and the department of corrections that my staff and I have established, is vital in sustaining our inmate population at levels that will allow for the jail to continue to be a success."

Running on a platform of past success, Miller said he would like the opportunity to continue making the jail a positive factor in the Casey County community.

"I plan to continue to do what I have done the past 19 years as jailer, and that is to operate a safe, secure, and clean jail that has been an asset to our community. I will continue to do my very best to continue operating our jail in a cost effective and self sufficient manner."

A resident of 1089 Delp Road, Miller has two children, Lakken and Collin. He is a member of Green River Valley Separate Baptist and has a bachelor's degree in Human Services.

T.J. Hayes

Challenging the incumbent jailer is Republican candidate, T.J. Hayes. Hayes believes his 10 years of previous law enforcement experience makes him qualified for the position.

Hayes said that he decided to run for the office of jailer because he believes the community wants a change and someone to earn their pay as a full time jailer.

"(I) have strong public relations, (am) honest and hard working, know how to operate in a civilized manner at a professional level, and am dependable to be there to do my job."

Keeping the facility maintained, sanitized, and civilized is what Hayes believes to be the most pressing issues facing the position of jailer.

"(I plan to) be a full time jailer, make sure the facility is run in a civilized, orderly manner at a professional level. (Put in place) programs to help people, keeping Class D intake up, utilize all resources."

A member of the National Rifle Association, 4-H, and a 4-H shooting sports coach, Hayes resides at 6209 Maxey Valley Road, Hustonville.

MAGISTRATE, DISTRICT 2

Race for District 2 magistrate draws six Republicans

By Abigail Whitehouse
Staff Writer

Five Republican candidates are set to challenge the incumbent, David “Frog” Wethington, in the District 2 Magistrate’s race.

Eddie Dale Poff

The opportunity to help Casey County grow is Eddie Dale Poff’s main motivation for running for magistrate. As a Brush Creek volunteer firefighter for 20 years, Poff said he has witnessed many changes that have occurred in the county and knows what changes he would still like to see. “If elected, my intentions are to improve road conditions, to attract new industries, to bring income into the county, and utilize current resources that have potential to bring money into the county.” In addition, Poff said that he cares about Casey County and what happens here. He believes he has a lot of ideas that would benefit the county and continue to promote positive changes. As a volunteer for Liberty/Casey County Rescue Squad, a hunter education instructor, and professional logger, Poff is seeking the magistrate’s seat to play a larger role in the growth of the community. Poff and his wife, Matana, reside at 269 Denson Road.

A.C. Richards

A.C. Richards has lived at the same location in Casey County his entire life and knows first hand where the poorest road conditions exist. It is for that reason, Richards believes he is the most qualified candidate running for District 2 magistrate. “If elected, I feel like it’s my responsibility as a citizen of Casey County to see that all people have the best roads possible to travel on in District 2. I know I will work as hard as possible to meet the needs of the people in District 2.” Richards said that he believes all those in District 2 should be treated fairly and the roads, particularly in Northern Casey County, need to be improved. A farmer and sawmill owner and operator, Richards is married to Barb Richards and they have two children. He is a Kentucky colonel, a member of Rocky Ford Masonic Lodge and attends Ellisburg Baptist Church. The family resides at 840 Gusty Branch Rd., Hustonville.

Jerry Sandusky

After serving 16 years on the school board, Jerry Sandusky has had his fair share of experience dealing with the public. Continuing to help the people of Casey County, particularly those in District 2, is the motivating force behind Sandusky’s decision to run for the magistrate’s seat. “I will work hard for the district and county. I want to meet with the people in the district once a month to find out their concerns.” The improvement of roads and the generation of new jobs in Casey County is what Sandusky believes to be the most pressing issues he will face if elected to District 2 magistrate. Sandusky, a self-employed insulator, has four children, Paul Sandusky, Paula Brown, Alina Sandusky, and Alice Sandusky, as well as four grandchildren. He resides at 7459 Ky. 49 and attends Atwood Chapel.

David ‘Frog’ Wethington

Republican Incumbent Wethington is seeking another term as Magistrate of District 2. “I have loved having the opportunity to serve as magistrate. I would like to continue to do so. At times you make unpopular decisions. I have always voted the way I felt the citizens of Casey County, District 2 would want.” Wethington, 68, retired from General Electric 30 years ago and since has spent his free time serving Casey County. Experienced, honest, dependable and hardworking are words used by Wethington to explain why he is the best candidate for this position. “I will continue to work hard and devote my time to returning all calls received and to act upon your requests and needs. I will work jointly with all members of Fiscal Court for the betterment of Casey County. I will be a magistrate you know.” Wethington, who is a U.S. Army Vietnam veteran, attends St. Bernard Catholic Church. He and his wife, Marlene, have been married for 40 years and have two children, Shane Wethington and Mandi Price, and five grandchildren. The Wethington family lives at 1118 Griffith Ridge Road.

Bart Woodrum

A voice to the people is what Bart Woodrum would like to be and that goal has led him to seek the position of District 2 magistrate. “I want to serve the people of my district and Casey County by being a voice to address their needs and concerns.” As a fifth generation farmer, Woodrum believes his diverse business background makes him most qualified for the position. His time and respect are two things Woodrum guarantees to give to Casey County citizens if he is elected. “I will bring accountability back to the magistrate’s position in District 2. I will be available everyday, not just at election time. I will be fiscally responsible when conducting county business and will stand firm and make informed decisions for Casey County. Woodrum would like to bring new leadership to the Casey County Fiscal Court and, if elected, said he will strive to establish a strong working relationship within that court to move Casey County in the right direction. A graduate of Boyle County High School, Woodrum also attended the University of Kentucky. He is a member of Grace Baptist Church, Casey County Cattlemen Board of Directors, and Farm Credit Services Advisory Board. He is married to Rachel Terrill Woodrum and they have one daughter, Lauren Jane. The family resides at 7761 Ky. 49.

Editor’s Note: Republican candidate Gary Peyton did not return requested information.

MAGISTRATE, DIST. 2

POFFRICHARDS SANDUSKY WETHINGTON WOODRUM

The race for Magistrate District 2 will appear on the ballots in the precincts of Casey 4 (Clementsville), Casey 5 (Wess-Whited), and Casey 6 (Ellisburg).

MAGISTRATE, DISTRICT 4

Four candidates face off for District 4 magistrate position

By Abigail Whitehouse
Staff Writer

Incumbent Magistrate Jamey Maupin and Republican challengers Roger Durham and Chris Edwards will be on the primary ballot for voters in District 4 on May 20. The winner of the primary will then face lone challenger Democrat Charles McAnelly in November.

Republicans
Roger D. Durham

Connecting Casey County to the other areas of the state, creating businesses, and improving road conditions are three tasks that Roger D. Durham is interested in tackling if he is able to obtain the District 4 magistrate’s position. “I have an interest in Casey County. I want to see growth for our youth.” Durham has worked in the public eye for 35 years within the school district. “I spent 17 years in transportation dealing with roads and daily problems we have in Casey County.” In addition to fixing current road problems, Durham wants to see the community grow through industry and draw businesses into Casey County. He has a B.S. degree from Cumberland College as well as a Master’s Degree, Rank I Administrative Degree from Eastern Kentucky University. “I intend to work with other officials, city and county, and the people of Casey County to try to bring growth into our county. Jobs are one priority, our youth (most important), and new businesses, big or small, to employ our citizens in this county.” A member of Mt. Olive Christian Church, Durham is also a member of Middleburg Lodge #594 and Craftsman Lodge #722, a former board member and present treasurer of Southeast Casey County Volunteer Fire Department. He is married to Cynthia G. Durham and has three children, Melissa and Kyle Durham and Lesley Wesley. The Durhams reside at 3827 S. Ky. 837.

Chris Edwards

Chris Edwards believes he can make a difference working with and for the people of District 4. “It’s time for a change. There are several roads and right-of-ways that are in poor shape and that needs to be addressed for the safety of the community.” Edwards said he will put the needs first and foremost for his district and work with the public daily. He said he is always ready to hear from the people about concerning issues. “If elected, I will give 100 percent to the people of my district. I am open minded and willing to work closely with other magistrates to make Casey County a better place for the next generation. I will work with and for the people.” Edwards is active with the Poplar Springs Volunteer Fire Department and employed by Warner Fertilizer. He is married to Jessica Edwards and lives at 31 Bowman Trail.

Jamey Maupin

Republican incumbent Jamey Maupin said he is the most qualified person for the District 4 magistrate’s position because he is the only candidate in District 4 with experience. “I am passionate about helping people with their concerns and problems.” Maupin has previously served 10 years a volunteer firefighter with East Casey Fire Department as well as having served for two years as the chief of the Southeast Casey Fire Department. “If re-elected, I intend to help operate Casey County in the most productive and efficient way possible and to help the citizens with their problems and concerns to the best of my abilities. I will also continue to support the things that can help our county grow, like the new college.” Getting the new college built and keeping the young people of Casey County here to help it grow is a main concern for Maupin. Maupin is a member of Heritage Hope Church of God and a current board member of Southeast Casey Fire Department. He is married to Michelle “Chelly” Maupin and has two stepdaughters, Nikki Burge and Ashlee McDaniel. The family resides at 1565 S. Ky. 501.

Democrat
Charles McAnelly

The only democratic candidate running for District 4 magistrate’s seat is Chris McAnelly, who said he is confident that he can help the people in District 4. “I feel experienced in this type of position. Honesty and listening to the people are my goals.” Lack of transparency in local government is one issue McAnelly believes this position faces and it is the magistrate’s duty to bring about more effective efforts by utilizing a pro-active approach to maximize resources. “I plan to use active listening to develop a better understanding to the needs of my district and focus on accountability. I want to work toward a very positive atmosphere, listen to the people and their ideas which I feel is very helpful to the cause. We need to focus on proactive maintenance to optimize the resources and enhance the limited resources available in this challenging economy. I plan to utilize an open door policy.” McAnelly and his wife, Jackie, have two children, Nathan and Brian McAnelly. The McAnellys live at 286 Riverview Drive.

The race for Magistrate District 4 will appear on the ballots in the precincts of Casey 10 (Argyle-Poplar Hill-Bethelridge), Casey 11 (Gilpin), Casey 12 Walnut Hill), and Liberty C (South Liberty).

Five incumbents running unopposed, get another term

By Abigail Whitehouse
Staff Writer

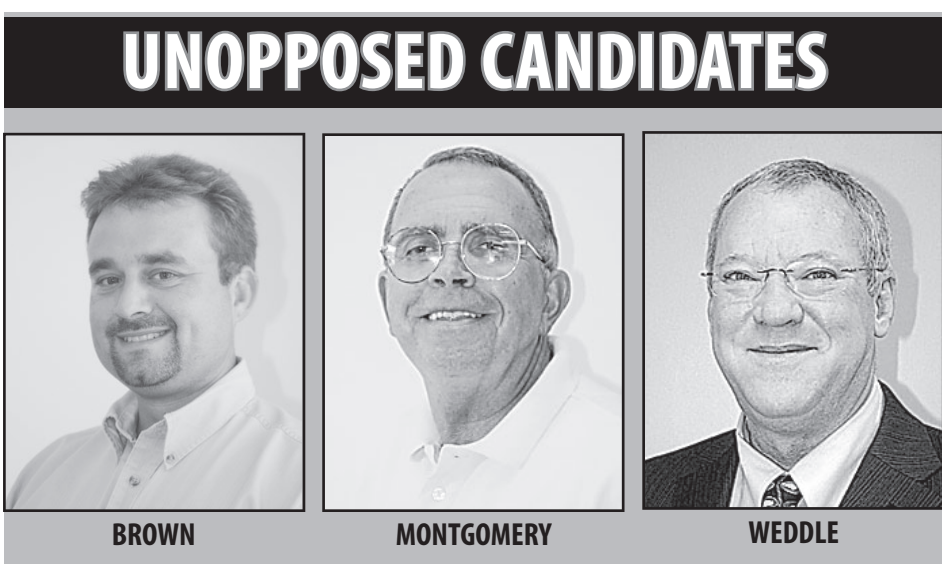

Five local candidates will get another term in office as they are unopposed in both the May primary and November general elections.

PVA

Eric Brown took the office of Casey County's Property Valuation Administration in December 2006. Before that, he worked nine years as a deputy PVA under Johnnie Beard Jr.

Brown said he is a two-term incumbent and he enjoys the job. He is a Casey County High School graduate as well as a graduate of Somerset Community College, Apass/Wickel Real Estate School, and WEG Appraisal School.

Serving on the Clementsville Volunteer Fire Department, Brown is also a member of the Casey County Young Republicans and the Casey County Rescue Squad.

Brown, of 88 Jim Brown Road, has two children, Ciara and Dylan.

County Attorney

Tom Weddle has held the position of Casey County Attorney since 1986. Over the years, Weddle has faced many issues but he said the most pressing issues the office of County Attorney faces is fiscal responsibility in challenging economic conditions and the proliferation of controlled substances.

Weddle earned his law degree from the University of Kentucky in 1979 and also attended Oxford University. He is a member of First Christian Church in Liberty as well as a member of Masonic Lodge #772, the Casey County Sportsmen's Club, Casey County Bar Association, Kentucky Bar Association, Phi Beta Kappa, and Casey County Law Library.

"Given my education and profession, I believe I can give something valuable back to my county and hometown."

The father of two children, Andrew and McKinzee Weddle, Weddle resides at 1214 S. Wallace Wilkinson Boulevard.

Surveyor

Casey County's surveyor for the past four terms, Richard Montgomery plans to take on another term this fall.

Montgomery is a partner in KWM Engineering and Surveying and is the president of the Kentucky Association of County Surveyors. He is also on the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Professional Surveyors, a member of the Liberty/Casey County Chamber of Commerce and Liberty United Methodist Church.

The surveyor's office is the only office to have educational and or professional licensing requirements, Montgomery said, and he would like to continue statewide efforts by the Kentucky Association of Professional Surveyors to get qualified persons in the office.

According to Montgomery, the county surveyor is a nonvoting member of Fiscal Court and by statute a member of any county committee that spends or intends to spend public monies.

"I have in the past and will in the future, continue to watch and comment if necessary on actions by the court that affects the public trust. On a state level, as the president of the County Surveyor's Association, and a member of the Board of Directors of KAPS, I will continue aiding efforts to restore the County Surveyor's Office to its statutory and constitutionally endowed stature. Montgomery and his wife, Connie, who live at 244 Adams Street, have two children, Dr. Erica Turner and Samantha Wilson.

Editor's Note: County Clerk Casey Davis and District 4 Constable John Brown are also unopposed but did not turn in requested information.

Scenes from the 2014 'Know Your Candidates' political forum

The Casey County News and WKDO FM Radio partnered in hosting this year's "Know Your Candidates" Political Forum on April 24 in the Casey County High School cafeteria. With a crowd of more than 150 attending, 34 local candidates addressed the audience as well as those listening on the radio and online. ABOVE, the panelists asked questions submitted by the public to the local candidates in opposed races. From left are Casey News Editor Larry Rowell, former Casey school superintendent Linda Hatter, and WKDO co-owner Joey Hoover. RIGHT, Casey Circuit Judge Judy Vance attended the forum and addressed the crowd. Vance, unopposed, will not appear on the May ballot. BELOW, Forum Moderator State Rep. Jeff Hoover, R-Jamestown, provided opening remarks and forum guidelines to the candidates.
